ENCLOSURES: Annotated photograph of Drogobych Petroleum Refinery, "Polmin"

REQUIREMENT RR/HTA/E/R100/56: Determine the location, numbers, and dimensions of various types of equipment existing in the Drogobych Petroleum Refinery, "Polmin", Drogobych, USSR. Report any evidence of new construction or plant expansion.

REMARKS:

The Drogobych Petroleum Refinery, "Polmin" is located on the eastern edge of the city of Drogobych, in the western part of the Ukrainian S.S.R. This refinery was almost completely destroyed during World War II but has since been reconstructed.

A comparison of [redacted] photography with the Target Mosaic composed of photographic cover of [redacted] shows that the larger buildings have been rebuilt and modernized, but there are fewer storage tanks and distillation units. The major components of the refinery are identified and described on the accompanying annotated photograph.

The former "Nafta" Petroleum Refinery, located just north of the "Polmin" refinery, was severely damaged during World War II and is no longer engaged in petroleum refining. Storage tanks and refinery equipment visible on [redacted] photography have been removed. The site of this former refinery is now occupied by a plant reportedly producing oil drilling equipment.

The Drogobych Petroleum Refinery, "Galicja", the only other refinery in Drogobych, is described in CIA/RR-HTA Photographic Intelligence Brief 3-57.
